

Veranstaltung | Brown Bag Seminar

Daddies on the Scene, Mommies at the Backstage: The Gendered Nature of German Academia

The brown bag seminar discusses along the publication "Daddies on the Scene, Mommies at the Backstage: The Gendered Nature of German Academia" of Prof. Nazlı Ayşe Ayyıldız Ünnü why the proportion of women in academic positions in Germany remains persistently low.

Mi
11.10.

Uhrzeit

12.30-13.30

Ort

Campus Schöneberg

Haus B Room B 5.44

Badensche Straße 50-51

10825 Berlin

Google Maps

Kosten

Free of charge

Anmeldung

Registration until October 9

Register now

Veranstalter/in

Harriet Taylor Mill-Institut für Ökonomie und Geschlechterforschung

HTMI website

We cordially invite you to the next HTMI Brown Bag-Seminar with Prof. Nazlı Ayşe AYYILDIZ ÜNNÜ, Department of Business Administration, Ege University, Izmir, Turkey. She is participant at Erasmus+ Teaching Staff Mobility Program and wants to discuss her recent research on under-representation of women in academic positions in Germany.

The reasons underlying this problem are drawn from the suggestions of academics. The challenges faced by the academics throughout their careers, how these challenges differ by gender, and gender discrimination are also discussed to gain an in-depth insight on marginalization of women in science. The data comes from 24 in-depth interviews with academicians in a German University, which has formal equal opportunities policies and gender monitoring systems in place. System based barriers, the mutual exclusivity of career progress and family, curse of caring, lower self-confidence and efficacy levels of women, reluctance of women, lack of supportive mechanisms are stated as some of the factors, leading to under-representation of women in higher positions by respondents. These factors were mostly linked with the old idea generating from gender roles, either implicitly or explicitly.

The event will be held in English.

Registration

Please register for the event by October 9:

- Register now!